

*Please accept the following replacement abstract, which shows changes made relative to its prior version.

Abstract of the Disclosure

Security of photographic identification documents is enhanced by providing ~~embedding within the photographic image encoded~~ machine-readable information that may be correlated to other information pertaining to the individual represented by the image, such other information being, for example, printed on the document adjacent to the photograph.